Partners Programme

So neither the one who plants nor the one who waters is anything, but only God, who makes things grow.

1 Corinthians 3:7 ✓✓

Since 2003, Co-Mission has been driven by a single conviction:

16:24 ✓

the best way to reach this great city with the gospel is by planting and growing churches that proclaim Christ faithfully in every corner of London.

Delivered ✓

We exist to plant churches to reach London for Christ.

Over the past two decades, we've seen God at work in remarkable ways - in council estates and suburbs, in schools and universities, among the wealthy and the poor, among Londoners born here and those who've come from around the world. Church planting in 21st century London is costly and risky, but there is no better way to reach the lost with the good news of Jesus.

Co-Mission partnership through financial support was invaluable to us as we got going. The grant and loan enabled us to purchase much-needed AV and music equipment, so people could hear and celebrate the gospel we were proclaiming. As we've become more established, we've started paying back the loan element and are thrilled to give back to other gospel opportunities in that way.

The harvest is plentiful but the workers are few. Ask the Lord of the harvest, therefore, to send out workers into his harvest field.

Matthew 9:37-38

Since our beginning, Co-Mission churches have planted over 40 churches, and several have gone on to plant others. We've seen churches flourish and grow, some struggle and close, and others merge or move on from the network. None of these are failures, we serve a sovereign God who works through both successes and setbacks for his glory.

Every story of planting, growth, and change reminds us that the gospel is bearing fruit in ways that are often unseen and always in his hands.

God is moving in the city

I wouldn't be leading a church plant if it wasn't for Co-Mission. A network of like-minded friends around me, giving camaraderie, support and encouragement, has been a game-changer: used by God, I believe, to grow and strengthen me with faith and courage to be in this position. The Co-Mission grant has also enabled us to take the plunge (a faith-filled risk!) and get started.

London today

London is one of the most influential cities in the world - a global hub of business, education, culture, and politics. It's home to more than 9 million people, speaking over 300 languages, representing almost every imaginable background and belief.

It's a city of incredible opportunity and deep spiritual need - held together by ambition, energy, and diversity, yet fractured and restless at its core. Millions live without knowing the hope and peace that only Christ can bring. And unless someone tells them, how can they know?

How, then, can they call on the one they have not believed in? And how can they believe in the one of whom they have not heard? And how can they hear without someone preaching to them? And how can anyone preach unless they are sent? As it is written: 'How beautiful are the feet of those who bring good news!'

In God's providence, Co-Mission has been instrumental for our growth as a Hispanic network - the established infrastructure, meaningful relationships, and rich ministry experience have truly transformed our work. Being a part of Co-Mission has enabled us to serve the Hispanic community in London with greater effectiveness and Kingdom vision.

what we've learnt

Delivered ✓✓

We've learnt that God is honoured when we depend on him, in times of fruitfulness and in times of frustration.

We've learnt that the gospel of Jesus Christ is powerful to save people from every background, tongue, and nation.

And we've learnt that partnership in the gospel - praying, giving, and going together - is essential if we are to reach this vast city with the good news of Jesus.

Hundreds have come to faith through the churches of Co-Mission, and many have been sent out to serve across the UK and beyond. Praise God, he is powerfully at work!

what next?

Delivered ✓✓

As we look ahead, we're convinced that there is still so much to do. If God is to be glorified in this city, we need many more churches that are faithful to his Word and bold in mission. We're not the only ones, but we're doing all we can: investing in people, training future pastors and planters, supporting new works and equipping churches to reach new communities.

We want to keep planting, keep training and keep taking gospel risks! We trust that as we do, God will bear fruit for his glory.

Co-Mission funding support has been hugely impactful for our cross-cultural ministry trainee, Joshua. It has enabled him to train with us in an inter-cultural pioneering church planting context. We'd love to continue raising up gospel workers and leaders from ethnic minority backgrounds to reach the nations, here in London and beyond, for Christ.

What is the Partners Programme?

15:30 ✓✓

Just a glance at the Apostle Paul's ministry shows that partnership is the powerful gospel dynamic behind real progress. That's exactly what Co-Mission is all about - a network of churches committed to working together to achieve far more than any of us could do alone.

We believe that this sort of partnership is the key to us reaching London for Christ. Co-Mission has never been just about planting churches or training pastors, it's about equipping hundreds of Christians like you to reach this city for Jesus. This won't happen if only a few try to do everything. We need to work together to drive this mission forward.

That's where the Co-Mission Partners Programme comes in. It's a way for all of us, even those who feel they have little to offer, to combine our small resources and play a part in something far bigger.

We're looking for people who will pray, who will give sacrificially to support this work and who are ready to go!

How to get involved?

Delivered ✓✓

Being a Partner isn't just about giving.

We really believe that to reach this city, we need people praying, giving, and going. Although the costs of church planting are significant, it's been clear to us over many years that money isn't the only thing that drives planting. We need people trained in gospel ministry who are ready to lead and support new gospel churches across London, and we need people praying fervently for revival.

Pray

We want everyone to pray for the growth of God's kingdom in London and for all that we and the churches do to contribute to that.

Give

Planting churches in London often needs a significant financial investment. We want everyone to consider what they could give. Many giving what they can will add up and help us to reach new areas with solid gospel preaching churches.

Go

Jesus tells us 'the harvest is plentiful but the workers are few' (Matthew 9:37), which holds up even more starkly against the backdrop of 9 million Londoners. We need people to prayerfully consider whether church planting, ministry training, or joining a church planting team is something they could be involved with. We hope to enable the next generation through financial support and training to lead new churches around the city.

As a network, we want to depend completely on our Lord and Father in prayer. It's striking to read how many times the great missionary Paul expresses dependence on the prayers of God's people:

Pray for us that the message of the Lord may spread rapidly and be honoured, just as it was with you.

2 Thessalonians 3:1

So we'd love to encourage you to join us in bringing our prayers and petitions as a network to God, that in all things we might give him the glory. You can find prayer points for the Co-Mission churches uploaded weekly to our website and on our PrayerMate feed.
